G2'S HEATHER SANDOR EARNS ENVIRONMENTAL PROFESSIONAL DESIGNATION

Troy, Mich./Oct 29, 2010 – Heather Sandor, an environmental scientist at G2 Consulting Group in Troy, Mich., recently met the federal definition of an Environmental Professional (EP) by meeting experience, education and certification standards specified by the Environmental Protection Agency. This qualifies her to conduct the all appropriate inquiry (AAI) environmental due diligence investigations required to exempt commercial real estate purchasers from cleanup liability for past contamination of a site.

A G2 employee since 2005, Sandor earned a bachelor's degree in environmental health from Oakland University, is an Accredited Asbestos Building Inspector in Michigan and has completed Hazwoper training. She is a member of Commercial Real Estate Women Detroit, the Michigan Association of Environmental Professionals and the American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM) Subcommittee E-50.02 "Commercial Real Estate Transactions" member. Sandor lives in Lake Orion, Mich.
